

THE JUNGLE BOOK

In the jungle, the mighty jungle, the gorillas sleep tonight...

*"Now this is the law of the jungle, as old and as true as the sky,
And the wolf that shall keep it may prosper, but the wolf that shall break it must die.
As the creeper that girdles the tree trunk, the law runneth forward and back;
For the strength of the pack is the wolf, and the strength of the wolf is the pack."*

The Jungle Book, originally written by Rudyard Kipling, is a story about a little boy named Mowgli who gets lost by his parents in the Indian jungle during a tiger attack. Lost and alone in the woods, he is adopted by a pack of wolves who raise him as their own and teach him the ways of the wolf; Mowgli also befriends a bear named Balu and a black panther named Bagheera. In this book, Mowgli faces all sorts of troubles and adventures in the wild that are nothing short of exciting. Unfortunately, this isn't the actual Jungle Book. This is a newspaper that displays the not-so-random happenings of our very own Davenport High School. Want to know what sports events are going on? We're here for you! Maybe want to hear some advice from some of the best students and teachers? We have that, too. Not enough and want other information? You need not even ask. So, without further ado...

We tip our hats and welcome you to The (new) Jungle Book.

Character Trait:

Respect

A feeling of deep admiration for someone or something elicited by their abilities, qualities, or achievements.

Imagine sitting in the classroom, your teacher going on and on. You're dead tired and are bored out of your mind; you just want to sleep. However, instead of sleeping, you go the extra mile and keep your ears attentive and your brain participating and pay attention to what the teacher is saying to you. While you pay attention, you make sure to stay silent (meaning no talking- not even the minor whispering), and engage in the lecture when asked to. That is being respectful. Actively listening to someone and paying attention and not speaking while they talk. Respect is something that must be given to receive- like giving someone a plate of cookies and them giving you a plate of freshly baked brownies in return. Respect is a courtesy of today's rules.
